Ohio against George Johnson. Selling on Sunday; pleaded not guilty; bond $100.

Ohio against James Griffith. Furnishing liquor to a minor; pleaded guilty; fined $15 and costs and ten days in jail.

Ohio against James Williams. Pleads not guilty to indictment for burglary and larceny; bond $300.

Robert Strong against Sarah Taylor. Dismissed without prejudice.

Pamphrey Perkins against E. B. Armstrong, adm'r. Trial to jury; verdict for plaintiff for $170.61.

Verdict For $100.

The suit of John Cain against W. K. Elson, of the Elson Glass Works, Martin's Ferry, for $10,000 damages for false imprisonment, was heard in Common Pleas Court on Monday. Some time ago Mr. Elson had a number of boys arrested for stealing pay checks, among them Cain. At the hearing Cain was acquitted, hence the suit. The jury after being out several hours returned a verdict for the plaintiff and fixed the damages at $100.

Bonds Not Sold.

The Commissioners failed in their effort to sell the $140,000 of county and bridge bonds on Tuesday. Only one bid, par, was made, and this they refused to accept. Quite a number of firms were represented, but they objected to the terms of payment, saying they could not raise so much money in so short a time. What will be done has not been determined.

Board of Health Appointed Deputy Marshal—Annual Levy, &c.

Council met Monday night in special session. In accordance with the ordinance recently passed constituting a Board of Health, the Mayor appointed the following as members of said board: Dr. S. L. West, 3 years; Dr. E. C. Alexander, 1 year; George Jepson, 2 years; J. B. Hoge, 2 years; Walter Darrach, 3 years; H. R. Johnston, 1 year.

John Ferren was appointed Deputy Marshal, with a salary of $40 per year, and to receive a fee of $5 for each arrest and conviction under the liquor ordinance. There were four applicants for this place, and Mr. Ferren was chosen by a vote of Council.

The proper committee was instructed to transcribe the laws and ordinances of the town passed prior to 1884, and put them in proper shape.

The Committee on Streets and Crossings was instructed to report the proper resolution at Council's next meeting for the construction of necessary sidewalks, and repairs to same, and report the necessary steps toward the removal of fences now encroaching upon the streets or alleys of the village.

A resolution was passed that the Marshal be especially instructed to enforce every provision of the saloon ordinance. The annual levy for corporation purposes was made and apportioned as follows: General fund $\frac{1}{2}$ mill, streets and roads $\frac{1}{4}$ mill, light $\frac{1}{8}$ mill, railway sinking fund $\frac{1}{4}$ mill—total $\frac{9}{8}$ mills.

A Happy Event.

On Wednesday evening of last week the marriage of Rev. E. Aukerman, of New Athens, to Miss Nannie Thompson was solemnized at the residence of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson, near Lafayette Station. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. H. Thompson, of Urbana, Ohio. The contracting parties were attended by Miss Kitta Reynolds, Mr. Will Scott, Miss Kitta Wallace, and Rev. A. W. Hays. More than 100 guests were present, many from a distance, and the event was one of rare pleasure. The bounteous wedding supper was served, after which the evening was given up to social pastime. The presents were numerous, costly and handsome.

The bride was a teacher in Richmond College, while the groom is a young Presbyterian minister. They begin life with hearty congratulations of a host of friends.

Possibly a Murder.

Some two or three years ago the body of a man badly mangled by a train was found on the railroad track at Barnesville. As he was known to have been drinking the supposition then was that he had laid down on the track and had been run over. Recently rumor has it that some revelations are about to be made in regard to the matter to the effect that in a quarrel the man was struck on the head with an ax in the hands of one of a party of four or five men, all of whom are still in Barnesville. Having killed him the body was carried to the railroad track and a train allowed to run over him in order to hide the evidences of the crime. The facts are said to have leaked out in various ways, but the names of all parties are withheld for obvious reasons.

Abe Kelley.

Capt. Abe Kelley, of Barnesville, announces his candidacy for Treasurer in another column of this paper. Abe Kelley, as he is familiarly known, is a tried and true Republican, has long labored in the party's interest and would not go into the office a stranger to its duties, being tax collector at Barnesville for some years. He is a man whose character is above reproach and should be nominated he would prove a clean, able, and aggressive candidate.

Expensive.

The expense of holding an election under the Kangaroo law increases in geometrical progression as the election becomes smaller. The expense of the local election in Union township, at which about 300 votes will be cast, will amount to about $46, distributed as follows: Board of Supervisors $29, advertising $8, printing $3, delivering $3, judges and clerks $12. It comes high, but the purity of the ballot must be maintained at whatever cost.

A Success.

The Candy Social given by a number of young ladies in the Court-house Hall, Friday evening, was a great success. A goodly sized crowd was present, and things sold easily and quickly, as from their excellence and the low prices they well deserved. Some forty dollars were taken in, and is to be devoted to the work of the W. C. T. U.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS.

Successful Meeting of Hope Commandery—Exercises, Work, and A Banquet.

Members of Hope Commandery, No. 26, K. T., may well be proud of the successful convalescence held at the asylum here, Thursday, and the attendant exercises outside. Sir Knights to the number of seventy were present, including members and visitors from Bellaire, Bridgeport, Martin's Ferry, Barnesville, Cadiz, Steubenville, Wheeling and Cincinnati. At 2 o'clock the Commandery marched in a body from the Hall to the Methodist Church, where the beautiful and impressive ritual work provided by the Grand Commandery of Ohio for Ascension Day was gone through. The beauty of this service was much enhanced by the singing of a well-trained choir of the town's singers. Dr. Webb then made a brief but very appropriate and profitable address, which was listened to with marked attention and highly spoken of by all who heard it. Returning to their hall, the remainder of the afternoon and the evening were consumed by the Knights in the work of conferring the Commandery degrees on the following persons: John M. Garvin and Wm. T. Perry, of Cadiz; G. W. Deyarman, L. J. Boeshart, St. John Rockershausen and J. F. Mellott, of Bellaire. At about 11 o'clock the Commandery and the choir which furnished the music for the exercises, sat down in the Clarendon Hotel to a banquet which fittingly closed the pleasant and successful day's work.

The following resolution passed before adjournment, explains itself: "Resolved, That the most sincere thanks of Hope Commandery are due and are hereby tendered to our friends of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of St. Clairsville, for the use of their place of worship for Ascension Day services, and to the Rev. Webb for his very able and instructive address; also to the choir for their most excellent singing; all of which services are most highly appreciated. We also hereby tender our very grateful thanks to our friends of the Presbyterian Church for their very kind invitation, which we were unable to accept. Resolved, that the above action be spread upon the minutes, and the secretary authorized to advise the above named parties of the adoption of these resolutions."

In the Way.

A few years ago a monument was erected on the College grounds at New Athens, to the memory of Dr. Ross, at one time President of Franklin College. The college building was afterward sold for public school purposes, but the monument was left standing where it had been erected. A new school building is now to take the place of the old, and the monument will be in the way. The college trustees have refused to have it moved, and the school board wants it moved, and if it is not taken away, it will be thrown down and probably broken. The monument cost about $1,000, and was erected largely by admirers of Dr. Ross, most of whom are now scattered.

A Sad Death.

H. E. Wells, of Colerain township, died at the home of his brother, in Cambridge, on Sunday night, from acute stomach trouble. Last winter his wife died, since which time he has been quite despondent, and apparently unable to rally from his own ill health. He was about 40 years of age, was born and raised in Martin's Ferry, and was for some years engaged in the drug business in Bridgeport in the firm of Wells & Dent. His remains were brought to Bridgeport for interment.

THE Board of Education of Wheeling township will meet at Fairpoint School-house on Saturday, May 20th, at 1 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of employing nine teachers for the schools of said township for the year. Applications received by any member of the Board. By order of Board. W. S. HAWTHORNE, Pres't. JAMES TAYLOR, Clerk. 5-4 3t

Peculiar Disease Among Cattle.

There seems to be a new disease among cattle—especially the cows—in this community, partaking of the nature of cerebral spinal meningitis. They are attacked as a rule with a staring look, trembling, partial blindness, staggering walk, &c. It is said by those who are treating the disease that the treatment should begin in the first stages of it.

Suggestion.

A man who has in various ways been annoyed and damaged by dogs, especially the sheep killing kind, suggests that the dog tax law should be amended as follows: Each person owning one dog to be taxed $1; each person owning two dogs to be taxed $2 for each dog; each person owning three dogs to be taxed $3 for each dog; and so on, increasing the rate of taxation to the increase of dogs.

NOT EXACTLY NEWS.

A Few General Remarks and Familiar Reflections.

The poet laureateship of England has gone to a man who has done nothing of any great value in verse, and stands in marked contrast with the great poet who preceded him. But there are good reasons for conferring this honor on John Ruskin, though he be only a fourth-rate verse maker. He stands easily at the very head of English men of letters. For half a century he has been writing out his burning thoughts in the most vigorous language, and in the so-called form of prose, but in a form that is more poetical than much verse. Ruskin has almost made the art of the present age. If he has not, written poetry, he has had much to say about it, and he can very probably turn to as good a verse as many of his predecessors in this office. His political opinions are good, as he stands for "God and the Queen." Ruskin once called Gladstone an "old baggage," so that the grand old man shows his forgiving spirit by the appointment. It is now in order for those of us who have not already done it, to read "Modern Painters," "The Stones of Venice," or other of Ruskin's great books.

The man who says "it's a wet day," is having another season of great opportunity to speak out his favorite remark. But it makes little difference whether it be wet or dry. If it were dry this same man would tell you about it with the same air of originality and discovery with which he now says it is wet. It is astonishing how this man will take you into his confidence about the weather. If you know him, there is no use of your going to the trouble of keeping tab on the weather at all. Just wait until you see him, and no matter what freak the weather may be indulging in you will find that he has infallibly diagnosed the case, and will without charge, give you the result of his observation. He casts a horoscope every hour or so. He is a public benefactor, for he seems to go to all this trouble with no idea except that those whom he meets may be duly informed. If you are going along with your heavy overcoat on and a howling blizzard is blowing, without consulting the thermometer he will say "winter," or "wintry," or perhaps "cold." If you are toiling along at noon of a broiling day, gasping almost for breath, he will give you the key to the situation by saying "hot," or if he is particularly facetious and facetious he will propound this question, "hot enough for you?" If you stop and discuss the point with him, you will find that he knows what he is talking about, and is perfectly willing to give you the grounds for his assertions. The only disagreeable thing about him is that he is usually, despite his apparent levity, a pessimist, always holding the present weather to be worse than any before known.

A good man is one who will do his duty if it lies in his power, and his duty will be what his conscience tells him is right, whether actually and apart from him it be right or not. But if a given action seems right to him, though it is wrong, he will do it. The world thinks it wrong, he, if he be a really good man, must follow the light in his own bosom. It is not often that a man is found sufficiently resolute to do his duty. But there is a man in this place who has enough moral courage to refuse to work on a saloon building. It hurt his conscience, and he chose to do no violence to the voice of divinity in him. His action was spoken of by most men with an indulgent smile or a scornful sneer—seldom with the appreciation it deserved. We often say of a man that he has the strength of his convictions, and we duly admire him, because he comes out and speaks his mind, but we rarely find a man who has the strength of a conscience, nor do we give him proper credit when we find such a man, because perhaps he makes us ashamed of our own cowardice.

The announcement of the candidacy of Howard Kirk, for Treasurer, occurs in this issue. Mr. Kirk is a young man, a student of public affairs, and a thoroughgoing reformer. For Assault.

John Legg, a miner from Rogers' Mines, went into Henry Ducker's livery stable Friday, and asked Henry a question. Henry said he did not know, whereupon Legg called him a liar and stuck a revolver in his face. Henry had him arrested and Mayor Kennon assessed him in fines and costs $12.50.

Notice appears elsewhere in this issue of the candidacy of T. C. Ayers, Esq., for the Republican nomination for Prosecuting Attorney. Mr. Ayers is well fitted for the place, being painstaking and thorough in all his work, and should the nomination fall his way, his wide acquaintance and popularity will readily elect him.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Pertinent Points About People Who Come and Go.

—Miss Lizzie Kennon started for Chicago, Saturday, to stay the remainder of the World's Fair.

—Mrs. George Brown and daughter, Miss Lulu Brown, went Monday to Harvey, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, distant some 15 miles from the city, where they will live during the summer. Mr. Brown will follow in a short time.

—Miss Mary Irwin, of Wheeling, was in town Friday evening.

—F. M. Cowen and family drove down from Flushing Sunday and spent the day with relatives here.

—James R. Alexander, editor of the Woodfield Spirit, and Miss Mary Alexander, of this place, went to Chicago on Tuesday, the former for a two weeks' stay and the latter for six weeks.

—Miss Maggie Anderson went to Wheeling on Tuesday to enter the training department of the City Hospital.

—Milton Coffland returned to his Western home on Monday, accompanied by his brother John as far as Chicago.

—W. C. Warnock, of the Bellaire Democrat, was in town on Friday.

—W. A. Lucas this week leaves the position which he has held for several years as baggage agent on the B. & O. branch. He will soon go to Chicago, where he intends going into the livery business, and will run a transfer wagon between two railroad depots.

—Dr. Ralph and David Darrach went to St. Louis, Tuesday, where they will represent the St. Clairsville branch of our Young People's Christian Union at the National meeting. Dr. Ralph will then be present at a meeting of the Board of Missions at Bigville, Ia., afterwards attending the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian church at Monmouth, Ill., being absent about three weeks.

B. & O. Changes.

Under the new time card, which went into effect on the B. & O. on Sunday, trains leave St. Clairsville at 9:15 A. M. and 2 o'clock P. M., making connections both east and west. The west bound No. 102, in the morning makes no stops between St. Clairsville Junction and Barnesville. A train going west, leaving St. Clairsville Junction at 1:14 P. M., for which no connection is made from this place, stops at all stations, likewise one at 3:45 P. M., with which our train connects. A train east which stops at all stations passes the Junction at 2:28 P. M., and also one which runs fast at 3:46. Altogether the change is about as bad for the accommodation of the traveling public as it could be made.
